> Dear friend, I pray that you may enjoy good health and that all may go well with you, even as your soul is getting along well.
> — 3 John 1:2

Book: New Testament / 3 John
Topics: blessing, health, Prayer, sickness, soul

Interpretation:
The book of 3 John is a letter written by the apostle John to a friend named Gaius. John was grateful for Gaius' service to the church and encouraged him to continue serving the Lord. In verse 2, John expresses his desire for Gaius to prosper in all things, just as his soul prospers.

The word "prosper" comes from the Greek word "euodó?," which means "to prosper, to flourish." John wanted his friend to prosper in all aspects of life, including physical health and financial well-being. However, he was most concerned with Gaius' spiritual prosperity, for he knew that without it, other blessings had no lasting value.

John knew that prosperity in Christ was more important than material wealth. Jesus Himself said in Matthew 6:33, "But seek first his kingdom and his righteousness, and all these things will be given to you as well." Our success in life is not measured by our material possessions, but by our relationship with God.

Spiritual prosperity means that we grow in our faith, learning to trust God more and more, and living by His commandments. When we have a close relationship with God, we can look at life's challenges from a different perspective.

Moreover, spiritual prosperity is contagious. When we are at peace with God, we are more likely to spread His love and peace to those around us. Likewise, when we diligently serve God and honor Him with our lives, He blesses us with prosperity that goes beyond the material.

_____

Attention! This is one of the possible interpretations based on the comments of famous theologians, which may differ from each other. If the interpretation is taken from other languages, then there may be a distortion of meaning when translating the language. Matthew 7:7-8

> I have no greater joy than to hear that my children are walking in the truth.
> — 3 John 1:4

Book: New Testament / 3 John
Topics: children, joy, truth

Interpretation:
The Apostle John, in his third letter, expresses great joy in the knowledge that his “children” (likely referring to the people he led to the gospel) are walking in truth. This verse is a profound reflection on the connection between truth and happiness in the life of a believer.

In the postmodern culture in which we live, truth is often viewed as subjective and relative. However, biblical truth is a truth that transcends subjectivity and relativity. Biblical truth is defined by the very word of God and is the objective reality that God reveals to us about Himself, us, and the world in which we live.

In the Bible, we find universal truths such as God’s love for humanity, the need for forgiveness and salvation, and eternal life. When someone acknowledges and embraces these truths, they experience deep and lasting joy, regardless of their life situations and circumstances.

The joy found in truth is different from momentary pleasure or happiness that depends on circumstances. Joy is found in the assurance that we are living in the will of God and in fellowship with Him. When we follow the truth that God has revealed to us, we are freed from guilt and fear and find peace and purpose in our lives.

There is nothing more rewarding than knowing God and understanding His plan for us as individuals. When we follow the truth of His word, not only do we open ourselves to freedom from sin and eternal salvation, but His love and our gratitude are also felt in our hearts.

_____

Attention! This is one of the possible interpretations based on the comments of famous theologians, which may differ from each other. If the interpretation is taken from other languages, then there may be a distortion of meaning when translating the language. Matthew 7:7-8