> God is faithful, who has called you into fellowship with his Son, Jesus Christ our Lord.
> — 1 Corinthians 1:9

Book: New Testament / 1 Corinthians
Topics: Church, calling, faithfulness, God, Jesus, reliability

Interpretation:
1 Corinthians 1:9 begins with a powerful message: “God is faithful.” This statement is a foundational fact of the Christian faith because it recognizes God’s faithfulness in all of His promises and actions. In a world full of uncertainty and changing situations, God’s faithfulness is a ray of light that always guides us.

Communion with Jesus Christ

The verse goes on to say that we are called into fellowship with His Son Jesus Christ, our Lord. This concept of fellowship is of great importance to believers because it is the foundation of our relationship with God. Through Jesus Christ, we can draw near to God, know Him, and establish a relationship of love and trust.

> Just as a body, though one, has many parts, but all its many parts form one body, so it is with Christ.
> — 1 Corinthians 12:12

Book: New Testament / 1 Corinthians
Topics: Church, body, community, Jesus

Interpretation:

The book of 1 Corinthians in the New Testament was written by the Apostle Paul, who was writing to the church in Corinth to correct doctrinal and practical deviations. He seeks to impress upon the people the importance of the Body of Christ and how each member plays an important role in unity and spiritual growth.

1 Corinthians 12:12 compares the human body to the church, and states that just as our body has many members, yet they all form one body, so Christ is one with His church. Paul often used analogies to make his teaching clearer, and this analogy is a very appropriate example to teach us about unity in the church.

The importance of unity in the church

This verse teaches the importance of unity in the church because when church members work together and support each other, they can better fulfill God's purpose. It is important to note that in a church, each member is important and necessary for the growth and well-being of the church.

The church should be a place where diversity is welcomed, where each member cares for others and works together in harmony and love. If we forget that we are all equal in Christ, we miss the blessing of having a true community that supports and encourages us in our spiritual lives.

> For we were all baptized by one Spirit so as to form one body—whether Jews or Gentiles, slave or free—and we were all given the one Spirit to drink.
> — 1 Corinthians 12:13

Book: New Testament / 1 Corinthians
Topics: Church, baptism, body, community, slavery, Spirit

Interpretation:
In 1 Corinthians, the apostle Paul teaches about the importance of the Holy Spirit in the lives of believers and the unity that results in the church as a result of the Spirit’s work. In chapter 12, Paul teaches that although there are many different spiritual gifts, they all come from the same Spirit who unites believers into one body.

However, one of the key aspects of the Spirit's work that Paul emphasizes in this chapter is the baptism of the Holy Spirit. In verse 13, Paul states that "For we were all baptized by one Spirit so as to form one body." The baptism of the Holy Spirit is the promise Jesus made to His followers before His ascension to heaven: "But you will receive power when the Holy Spirit comes on you" (Acts 1:8).

Baptized into one body

The image of Spirit baptism as the unification of believers into one body is central to Paul's teaching about the Spirit's work in the church. He uses the analogy of the human body to show that each member has a distinct but vital function for the well-being of the body.

Similarly, each believer has a unique role in the church, but all are equally important to the spiritual well-being of the Body of Christ. Paul emphasizes our unity in Christ and the "diversity of spiritual gifts" (1 Corinthians 12:4).

Inclusion in the Kingdom of God

1 Corinthians 12:13 also emphasizes that all people, regardless of their background, status, or history, are included in the Kingdom of God through the baptism of the Holy Spirit. Paul specifically mentions Jews and Greeks, slaves and free people, to show that there are no barriers in the Kingdom of God.

The baptism of the Spirit does not define us by our differences, but unites us as members of the Body of Christ. Regardless of our race, gender, age, or economic status, the Holy Spirit unites us into a common spiritual unity in Christ.

> — 1 Corinthians 3:16

Book: New Testament / 1 Corinthians
Topics: Church, community, Holiness, Holy Spirit, Spirit

Interpretation:

1 Corinthians 3:16 reminds us that we are the temple of God and that His Spirit lives within us. This means that our body is a sacred place, a place where God can express Himself and where we can connect with His divine presence. As temples of God, we are to take care of our bodies and minds, avoiding all negative influences so that we can be in harmony with His Spirit.

This verse also reminds us that God has given us a body and mind that we are responsible for caring for and protecting. We are to treat our bodies with the same respect as a temple, keeping them clean, healthy, and strong. If we take these tips into account, we will live in harmony with the will of God and His presence within us.

> — 1 Corinthians 3:17

Book: New Testament / 1 Corinthians
Topics: Church, community, Holiness, protection

Interpretation:
1 Corinthians 3:17 tells us that no man has the right to destroy the temple of God, and if he does, God will punish him. This verse makes us think about the meaning of "the temple of God" and how we can apply this verse to our lives.

What does "the temple of God" mean?

In the biblical context, "the temple of God" means a sacred place where God dwells. However, in this verse, the Apostle Paul tells us that we are the temple of God. This means that every person is a sacred place where God dwells. People are worthy of respect and care because we are God's creation.

How can we apply this verse to our lives?

This verse reminds us that we must respect our own bodies and the dignity of every person. When we treat others with love, respect, and care, we acknowledge the presence of God in them. If someone harms our body or if we witness harm to others, it is important to remember that God is in us and in them.

> For we are co-workers in God’s service; you are God’s field, God’s building.
> — 1 Corinthians 3:9

Book: New Testament / 1 Corinthians
Topics: Church, Evangelism, serving

Interpretation:
1 Corinthians 3:9 is one of the most beautiful expressions of God and man cooperating. The Apostle Paul uses this word to describe how God works with his followers in the world.

What does it mean to co-operate with God?

First, the term “co-worker” implies partnership or cooperation in the work of God. Paul says that they are not simply “workers” of God, but that they are actively involved with Him in building His Kingdom. This cooperation involves more than simply following God’s commands, but also conscious and creative participation in God’s work.

God’s plow

The verse also mentions that we are God’s “farm,” which has profound implications. Tilling the soil is the process of preparing the land for fruitfulness, requiring persistent and constant labor.

So we can take this verse as an invitation to the work of preparing our souls, an inner work we do to prepare our hearts for God’s purposes. The Holy Spirit is at work in us, preparing us to bear fruit in love, peace, patience, and humility.

God’s building

Finally, the verse mentions that we are “God’s building.” This term refers to the church, the community of believers. The church, in turn, is the place where we gather to serve God and grow together as children of God.

Book: New Testament / 2 Timothy
Topics: Church, equipment, life, serving, Word of God, work

Interpretation:
The Bible is the written Word of God, and it is an invaluable tool for our lives. As Christians, we believe that all Scripture is inspired by God and has an important purpose. 2 Timothy 3:16-17 speaks of the usefulness of Scripture in our lives.

Teachings

Scripture is useful for teaching us God's truths. By reading the Bible, we can learn more about the nature of God, His love for us, and His plan for our lives. Scripture shows us how Jesus lived and teaches us how we can live according to God's plan.

Rebuking

The term "reproof" refers to correction or rebuke. Scripture can be used to correct our thoughts and actions that are not in line with God's will. When we read the Bible, we are exposed to the truth and can see our shortcomings and weaknesses. Correction is not always easy to accept, but it is necessary if we are to grow and improve.

Correcting

Correction is not enough unless it causes us to change our actions. Scripture shows us how we can change and improve our lives. When we recognize our shortcomings and weaknesses, we can seek God's help to overcome them. The Bible shows us how to live a righteous life and gives us the tools to do so.

Training in righteousness

The word "righteousness" refers to righteousness and integrity in our lives. Scripture teaches us what is right and wrong and shows us how to live a righteous life in the eyes of God. The Bible sets moral and ethical standards and gives us guidelines for living by them.

Equipped for every good work

The verses tell us that the Word of God is able to fully equip a man of God for every good work. This means that if we want to be useful and effective in serving God, we need to cling to the Word of God and allow it to guide and instruct us. It is His teachings and His love that will support and strengthen us in difficulties and guide us on the path of good deeds.

> So Peter was kept in prison, but the church was earnestly praying to God for him.
> — Acts 12:5

Book: New Testament / Acts
Topics: Church, community, dependence, neighbor, Prayer

Interpretation:
Acts 12:5 is a verse that introduces us to a key moment in the life of the apostle Peter within the book of Acts. Chapter 12 of the book begins with the account of the death of James at the hands of Herod, who had been captured by Peter and was now seeking revenge against the Christians.

At the height of the persecution, Peter was captured and imprisoned with the intention of being publicly executed after the Passover. But the church, aware of the situation, remained united in prayer and supplication for the apostle's release. It was then that a miracle occurred: an angel of the Lord released Peter from his chains and opened the prison doors, allowing him to escape.

The importance of prayer in difficult times

Acts 12:5 is a powerful testimony to the value and effectiveness of prayer in difficult times. The early church was a community whose members supported and cared for one another, and this was reflected in their ability to unite in prayer when one of them was in danger.

Prayer was a fundamental tool for Peter's deliverance from captivity, showing that when God's people pray in faith and unity, great things can be accomplished.

This passage not only tells us about the importance of prayer in times of crisis, but it also shows us that our faith must be put into action. Not only did the church pray for Peter's release, but they believed that God could do something extraordinary to save him.

Prayer is not only a way to ask God to intervene, but it is also a way to demonstrate our faith in His power and willingness to act in our lives.

> Those who accepted his message were baptized, and about three thousand were added to their number that day.
> — Acts 2:41

Book: New Testament / Acts
Topics: Church, baptism, faith, Word of God

Interpretation:
One of the most significant and symbolic moments in the life of a Christian is baptism. Acts 2:41 tells us how those who had received the word of God were baptized, and about three thousand people were added.

This shows us that baptism was a fundamental part of the process of accepting the word of God and becoming a follower of Christ.

What is baptism?

Baptism is a Christian sacrament that symbolizes the death, burial, and resurrection of Jesus Christ. Through baptism, we acknowledge our faith in God and our willingness to give ourselves completely to Him. It is a public act in which we declare our faith in God and our intention to follow His teachings.

The importance of Baptism

Baptism is important because it symbolizes death to sin and the beginning of a new life in Christ. By going into and out of the water, we symbolize our death and resurrection with Christ. Furthermore, baptism is a way to show the world that we have decided to follow God and keep His commandments.

In Acts 2:41 we see that those who received God's word and were baptized were added to the body of believers. Baptism is an act of obedience to God and a way to participate in the Christian community. When we are baptized, we join God's family and commit to growing together in our faith.

> They devoted themselves to the apostles' teaching and to fellowship, to the breaking of bread and to prayer.
> — Acts 2:42

Book: New Testament / Acts
Topics: Church, bread, community, obedience, Prayer

Interpretation:
Acts 2:42 tells us about the importance of persevering in the apostles' teaching. This means standing firm in the teaching of God's Word as delivered by the apostles. This is fundamental because it is the apostles' teaching that leads us to understand and live God's will for our lives.

Some of the apostles' teachings that we are to follow are love for our neighbor, humility, honesty, chastity, and faith in Jesus Christ as our Savior. These teachings enable us to live a full life in fellowship with God, our families, and our friends.

Fellowship with one another

The next aspect mentioned in Acts 2:42 is fellowship with one another. Communion signifies the bond of love and friendship that exists between Christians. This fellowship is necessary because it allows us to grow together in our love for God and to learn from one another.

Communion also allows us to support each other in prayer, in material and emotional support, and in many other aspects of life. When we come together, we can share our struggles, successes, and worries. And together, we can help each other find solutions and keep our faith strong.

Breaking bread

Breaking bread is another aspect mentioned in Acts 2:42. The term refers to the Lord's Supper, also known as the Eucharist or Holy Supper. The Lord's Supper is a constant reminder of Christ's death and resurrection and their importance for our salvation.

The Lord's Supper is an opportunity to come together as a community around the word of God. By sharing bread and wine, we remember the importance of Christ's sacrifice and renew our faith in Him. Moreover, the Lord's Supper unites us in an act of reverence and humility and encourages us to live according to the will of God.

Prayers

Finally, Acts 2:42 mentions prayers. Prayers are fundamental to the Christian life because they are a way to communicate with God. Prayer allows us to thank God for His blessings, ask for His help in difficult times, and seek His guidance at all times.

Prayers are also a way for us to unite as a community around God. When we pray together, we can share our requests together and encourage each other to grow in faith and trust in God. Moreover, prayer allows us to sense God’s presence in our lives and helps us feel His grace and love.

> — Acts 2:46-47

Book: New Testament / Acts
Topics: Church, bread, community, food, praise, worship

Interpretation:
Acts 2:46-47 shows how first-century Christians lived in fellowship, sharing bread and the Word of God both in the temple and in their homes, praising God. These verses teach us that the unity and joy experienced in Christian community is the fruit of perseverance and mutual devotion.

The importance of christian fellowship

The gathering of Christians, both in the temple and in homes, is a foundational practice that strengthens faith, fellowship, and mutual love in the church. Temple gatherings worship God and hear His Word, while homes share bread and enjoy God's blessings in a more welcoming and familiar setting.

Christian communion is not just a practice, but a necessity, as the support and company of our sisters and brothers in faith help us grow spiritually and overcome together the adversities that may come our way.

The importance of praising God

The Bible teaches us that praising God is a way of worshiping Him and expressing our love, gratitude, and reverence. In Acts 2:47, we see how the early Christians praised God and how this resulted in the delight of the people and a great increase in the church.

Praise is not only a form of worship, but also a means of evangelism. When we praise God and live by His commandments, we show the world God's grace and love. This can be a powerful witness to those who have not yet met the Lord.

How can we praise God?

Some ways to praise God may include music, prayer, singing, reading the Bible, preaching, and serving others. Praise can also be a way of life, living according to God's commandments and always seeking to honor Him in everything we do.

How can this help us?

Praising God can help us maintain a good relationship with Him, grow spiritually, and find peace and satisfaction in our lives. When we praise God, we focus on Him and His greatness, which can help us leave our worries and problems behind. It can also unite us as a community and strengthen us as Christians.

> — Acts 9:31

Book: New Testament / Acts
Topics: Church, awe, Holy Spirit, peace

Interpretation:
Acts 9:31 tells us about the peace and strengthening of the churches in the regions of Judea, Galilee, and Samaria. This verse is an example of the Holy Spirit moving and developing the newly established church.

The importance of the fear of the Lord

The key to understanding this verse is the fear of the Lord. The fear of the Lord is a recurring theme in the Bible that refers to reverent fear and respect for God. This fear is not an irrational fear, but a recognition of the majesty of God and awe of His holiness and power. This fear is fundamental to the strengthening of the church. Walking in the fear of the Lord means living in fellowship with Him and keeping His commandments.

The importance of peace in the church

Another aspect to emphasize in this verse is peace in the churches. Peace is essential for the growth and building up of the church. When a church is at peace, it can focus on the work of the Lord without distraction or conflict. This peace involves not only the absence of conflict, but also an atmosphere of love and harmony among the brethren.

Strengthening the churches

This verse also speaks of strengthening the churches. The church is the body of Christ, and it must be united and strengthened to fulfill its mission. When churches are built and strengthened, they are able to reach more people and make an impact on their community. Strengthening the church is not only achieved through programs or resources, but also through the work of the Holy Spirit in the hearts of believers.

> — Colossians 1:18

Book: New Testament / Colossians
Topics: Church, Jesus, Resurrection

Interpretation:
Colossians 1:18 speaks of Jesus as the head of the church, which means that Christ is the leader and teacher of His church. This verse also reminds us that Jesus is the beginning, the firstborn from the dead, so He has primacy in everything.

Jesus as the head of the church

The image of Jesus as the head of the church reminds us that Christ is the leader of His church. He is the one who leads, guides, and protects His people. The church is the body of Christ, and as members of that body, we are to follow the teachings and example of Jesus in our daily lives.

Jesus is described as the head of the church in other parts of the New Testament as well. Ephesians 5:23 says, "For the husband is the head of the wife as Christ is the head of the church, his body, of which he is the Savior." Jesus is the head of the church because He is the one who saved His people. As the leader, He guides and protects us on the path to eternal life.

Jesus as the beginning and the firstfruits from the dead

This verse also says that Jesus is the beginning and the firstfruits from the dead. This means that Jesus was the first person to rise from the dead. His resurrection is the most important event in the Christian faith because it proves that through Him we have the hope of eternal life.

Moreover, Jesus' resurrection is victory over sin and death. 1 Corinthians 15:22 says, "For as in Adam all die, so in Christ all will be made alive." As the firstfruits from the dead, Jesus gives us the opportunity to find new life in Him, free from the bondage of sin and death.

> — Colossians 3:15

Book: New Testament / Colossians
Topics: Church, body, gratitude, Jesus, peace

Interpretation:
In Colossians 3:15 we find an invitation to let the peace of God rule in our hearts. But what does that mean? First, it is important to emphasize that the peace of God can only be experienced in fellowship with Him. It is a peace that surpasses all human understanding and protects us from the fears and anxieties that we experience in life.

The importance of fellowship with God

True spiritual peace can only be found in God. To experience the peace of God in our hearts, we must be in constant fellowship with Him through prayer and Bible reading. Only in Him do we find an inexhaustible source of love, grace, and mercy.

The importance of friendliness

Another lesson we can find in Colossians 3:15 is the importance of always being friendly. Friendliness allows us to see life from a different perspective and helps us focus on the blessings that God has given us. When we are friendly, the peace of God can reign in our hearts because we know that He is in control.

> — Ephesians 2:19-20

Book: New Testament / Ephesians
Topics: Church, Jesus, Kingdom, prophecy

Interpretation:
Ephesians 2:19-20 speaks to us about being included in the family of God. Before we knew Christ, we were considered outsiders, cut off from God's promise. But through faith in Jesus, we become children and members of God's family.

These verses also point out the importance of apostles and prophets as the foundation of the Christian faith. These sacred leaders, along with Jesus Christ as the cornerstone, are responsible for building up the church and guiding believers in the path of truth and salvation.

Who are Apostles and Prophets?

Apostles are those who have been called and sent by Christ to preach the gospel and establish the church on earth. The Bible mentions the original twelve apostles, chosen by Jesus Christ before His death and resurrection.

Prophets, on the other hand, are those who speak for God and proclaim His message to the people. In the Old Testament, we find several prophets such as Isaiah, Jeremiah, Ezekiel, and others who announced the coming of the Messiah.

Jesus Christ, the chief cornerstone

The second part of the verses indicates that Jesus Christ is the chief cornerstone of this spiritual structure. This means that He is the main foundation of the Christian faith, and everything that is built on Him must be consistent with His teaching and example.

The chief cornerstone was the fundamental element in the construction of ancient buildings, as it was the one that connected two walls and gave the structure stability and strength. In the same way, Jesus Christ is the link between believers throughout the world and gives strength and unity to the Church.

> — Ephesians 3:20-21

Book: New Testament / Ephesians
Topics: Church, humility, Spirit, strength, thoughts, worship

Interpretation:
There are several verses in the Bible that speak of the greatness of God's power and how He can do things beyond our understanding and knowledge. Such verses are Ephesians 3:20-21, which tells us that God can do far more abundantly than all we ask or think.

Then we see a call for the Lord to receive all the glory in the Church in Christ Jesus throughout all generations, forever and ever. This is an important reminder that the church should be a place of praise and worship to the Most High, and that we should place our faith and trust in Him.

The power of the Lord

In these verses, Paul tells us about God's ability to do things that are beyond our understanding. But why is God able to do things that we cannot understand? The answer to this question lies in the very nature of God. He is a supernatural and all-powerful being who exists outside of time and space. But God is also loving and kind, which means He wants the best for us.

When we pray and ask God for things, it is important to remember that He always hears us. But sometimes our prayers can be limited by our own understanding or faith. So Paul tells us that God can do much more than we understand or ask for. He is able to perform miracles in our lives if we have enough faith to allow His power to work in us.

What does the glory of God mean?

The term "glory of God" is used in the Bible to refer to His majesty and splendor. It is the visible manifestation of God's presence in the world. The glory of God is in His power, His justice, and His holiness.

The importance of giving glory to God

It is important to understand that the glory of God is not only for worship in church, but that we should seek it at all times of our lives. By acknowledging His glory in our lives, we open our hearts to faith and trust in Him. God's glory motivates us to live according to His will and trust His plans for us.

> Instead, speaking the truth in love, we will grow to become in every respect the mature body of him who is the head, that is, Christ.
> — Ephesians 4:15

Book: New Testament / Ephesians
Topics: Church, Jesus, love, truth

Interpretation:
To understand the meaning of a verse in the Bible, it is important to read it in context. Ephesians 4 is a letter written by the apostle Paul to the church in Ephesus. In it, Paul encourages Christians to live according to the grace of God that they have received through Jesus Christ. In verse 15, Paul shows how this is possible: speaking the truth in love.

Truth in love

In many cases, we may think that truth and love are incompatible. We may believe that telling the truth can hurt someone or that loving someone means not telling them the whole truth. However, this is not the approach that Christianity teaches.

Truth and love complement each other and should always be together. To grow in this direction, we must pursue a life of truth in love.

Growing in Christ

The goal of speaking the truth in love, according to Ephesians 4:15, is to grow into the One who is the Head, Christ. This means that by following a life of truth and love, we draw closer to Jesus Christ. Our growth as Christians depends on how we follow this truth.

> Wives, submit yourselves to your own husbands as you do to the Lord. For the husband is the head of the wife as Christ is the head of the church, his > body, of which he is the Savior.

> — Ephesians 5:22-23

Book: New Testament / Ephesians
Topics: Church, body, Jesus, marriage, relationships, Salvation

Interpretation:
It is important to remember that the submission of wives is a voluntary act, not a forced imposition by their husbands. The verse goes on to say that wives should submit “as you do to the Lord.” That is, wives’ submission to their husbands should be a reflection of their submission and love for God. By submitting to their husbands, wives not only honor the divine design of marriage, but also express their love and respect for God.

It is important to note that the text does not deny the equality of men and women, but rather establishes different but complementary roles. Just as each member of the body has an important function, men and women have different roles, but both are valuable to God.

In today’s society, many people consider this verse outdated and patriarchal, but this may be the result of a misunderstanding of the true meaning of this verse. Instead of viewing marriage as a gender competition, we must remember that it is a team with different roles and responsibilities. A woman is equally important and valuable in the eyes of God, and her husband is to treat her with love and respect, just as Christ loves and respects the church.

This verse also reminds us of the importance of relationships and connections in our society. As the Body of Christ, we need leadership, as well as care and love. God calls us to play our part and work together in building His Kingdom.

> Husbands, love your wives, just as Christ loved the church and gave himself up for her to make her holy, cleansing her by the washing with water through the word.
> — Ephesians 5:25-26

Book: New Testament / Ephesians

Topics: Church, love, marriage, purification, relationships

Interpretation:
To better understand what this verse means, it is important to think about Christ's love for the Church. He not only loved those close to him, but he also cared for those who were marginalized and excluded. Christ gave his life for the Church.

In this verse, Paul emphasizes how Christ loved the Church and gave everything for it. This includes your life, your time, your efforts, your patience, and your compassion. This type of love was not selfish, but focused on the needs of the Church. If we are to love our wives as Christ loved the Church, we must do the same.

When reading this verse, questions often arise: How can I love my wife this way if she does not love me back? What if she is an unbeliever?

Loving your wife in this way can be difficult if you feel that the relationship is not equal or if your spouse does not share your faith. However, we must remember that this command comes from God and is not dependent on the behavior of our partner. Selfless, sacrificial love is a reflection of God's love and a powerful witness to others.

> And let us consider how we may spur one another on toward love and good deeds, not giving up meeting together, as some are in the habit of doing, but encouraging one another—and all the more as you see the Day approaching.
> — Hebrews 10:24-25

Book: New Testament / Hebrews
Topics: Church, community, encouragement, equipment, Second coming, end times

Interpretation:
In Hebrews 10:24-25, the writer encourages believers not to forsake meeting together, as some have become accustomed to, but to encourage one another, especially as the day of Jesus' return draws near. These verses emphasize the importance of joining together with other believers and working together in God's work.

Consideration for one another

These verses remind us of how we should care for others and always seek their welfare, helping them achieve their goals and objectives. Given the importance of caring for others in our lives, a natural question arises: How can I motivate others to love and do good deeds?

To do this, we must begin with an attitude of service and consideration for others. We must be a source of encouragement and strength by being involved in their lives and actively listening to them. This will allow us to become a source of inspiration and motivation, encouraging others to do what they love, helping them achieve their goals, and giving them words of wisdom and encouragement.

Keep meeting together

Those who make a habit of not meeting together are missing out on an important part of the Christian life. Community is crucial to our spiritual life and our relationship with God.

When we meet together, we can pray together, encourage and support one another, enjoy each other's company, and learn from the experiences and perspectives of other believers. Not meeting together is missing out on the opportunity to grow and develop together in our faith.

Exhort one another

In addition to meeting together to pray and worship God, community has another important purpose: to encourage one another. When we are surrounded by other believers, we have the opportunity to encourage one another, correct one another, and stand firm in our faith. This is an important part of our spiritual life, as we often need the encouragement and support of others to continue in our walk with God.

The importance of community

Hebrews 10:24-25 highlights the importance of community and why it is so vital to our spiritual life. When we deviate from or neglect this practice, we not only miss the opportunity to grow and develop in our faith together, but we also miss the opportunity to support and encourage other believers in their walk with God.

Furthermore, community gives us the opportunity to put into practice the gifts God has given us. We can use our talents and abilities to serve others and work together in God's work. Community also allows us to bring the light of Christ to those who do not yet know Him, whether through missions or through personal witness.

> They said to you, “In the last times there will be scoffers who will follow their own ungodly desires.” These are the people who divide you, who follow mere natural instincts and do not have the Spirit.
> — Jude 1:18-19

Book: New Testament / Jude
Topics: Church, desires, Spirit, end times

Interpretation:
The Book of Jude is a short letter written by Jude, who calls himself “a servant of Jesus Christ” and “the brother of James” (Jude 1:1). Jude wrote this letter to warn believers about “certain men who have crept in secretly” into the churches (Jude 1:4).

These men are called “wicked men” who “have exchanged the grace of our God for lewdness” and “deny our only Lord and Master Jesus Christ” (Jude 1:4). Jude expresses his concern about the negative influence of these men who lead believers into lies. Jude 1:18 is part of a description of these men and their evil influence in the end times. In this verse, Jude speaks of scoffers who act according to their own evil desires.

Scoffers are those who ridicule the truth, faith, and Christian values. These are people who have no fear of God and seek to harm the truth and those who profess it. Moreover, these scoffers act according to their evil desires, that is, they act in accordance with their selfish interests instead of implementing the Christian values ??of love, compassion and justice.

> But you, dear friends, by building yourselves up in your most holy faith and praying in the Holy Spirit, keep yourselves in God’s love as you wait for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ to bring you to eternal life.

> — Jude 1:20-21

Book: New Testament / Jude
Topics: Church, Eternal life, faith, Holy Spirit, Jesus, love

Interpretation:
Jude, the brother of James, wrote a letter of encouragement to first-century Christians who were threatened by false teachers who had infiltrated the church. Verses 20-21 of his letter are a call to believers to build their lives on faith in Jesus Christ and prayer in the Holy Spirit.

Faith is the foundation of our relationship with God. Without it, it is impossible to please God (Hebrews 11:6). But faith is not something we can build ourselves. It is a gift from God that we must receive through faith (Ephesians 2:8-9). And once we have received faith, we must build our lives on it.

Faith is not simply believing that God exists. It is trusting Him and His Word. It is believing that He is faithful and that He will keep His promises. It is confidence in what we hope for and assurance in what we do not see (Hebrews 11:1). When we build our lives on this faith, we will not be shaken by the trials and temptations that come our way.

Prayer is another important aspect of our relationship with God. It is a way of communicating with Him, worshiping Him, asking Him for help, thanking Him, interceding for others, etc. But prayer is not just saying aloud or being silent. It is a spiritual act that must be done by the power of the Holy Spirit.

Praying in the Holy Spirit means that we allow Him to direct our prayers. This allows the Spirit to intercede for us with groanings that cannot be uttered (Romans 8:26-27). It means being in harmony with God and His will. When we pray in the Spirit, our prayers are effective and powerful.

> And I tell you that you are Peter, and on this rock I will build my church, and the gates of Hades will not overcome it.
> — Matthew 16:18

Book: New Testament / Matthew
Topics: Church, community, hell

Interpretation:
In Matthew 16, Jesus encounters His disciples as they pass through the area around Caesarea Philippi. He asks them who they think He is. Peter, filled with deep faith and conviction, replies, "You are the Christ, the Son of the living God" (Matthew 16:16).

Jesus acknowledges the importance of this statement by declaring that this revelation did not come from human flesh and blood, but from the Father in heaven. It is at this point that Jesus tells Peter, "And I tell you that you are Peter, and on this rock I will build my church, and the gates of Hades will not overcome it."

Peter as a rock

This statement by Jesus has been the source of controversy and disagreement throughout Church history. Some have interpreted it to mean that Jesus was speaking of Peter as the rock upon which the Church would be built.

However, others have argued that the "rock" Jesus refers to is Peter's confession of faith, and that Jesus is indicating that the Church will be built upon the truth of his confession.

The Church of Jesus

Regardless of the precise interpretation, this passage emphasizes the importance of the Church of Jesus and its foundation in the supernatural truth of divine revelation. Through His Church, Jesus provides saving grace to all the nations of the world, and the "gates of hell" will never prevail against it.

This verse also serves as a reminder that the Church belongs to Jesus, not to anyone who has authority over it. Its foundation in divine truth makes it stable and able to withstand the ravages of time and history.

> If they still refuse to listen, tell it to the church; and if they refuse to listen even to the church, treat them as you would a pagan or a tax collector.
> — Matthew 18:17

Book: New Testament / Matthew

Topics: Church, listening, sin

Interpretation:
Matthew 18:17 is part of Jesus' teaching on forgiveness and reconciliation in the church. This passage tells us what to do when someone in the church has sinned and refuses to repent and ask for forgiveness.

Why is this passage important?

Matthew 18:17 is of great importance to the church and Christians because it gives us clear guidance on how to approach sin and forgiveness in the Christian community. It reminds us that the church has a responsibility to help those who have sinned, not just to punish or judge them. Furthermore, it reminds us that all members of the church have a responsibility to correct and build others up.

> For where two or three gather in my name, there am I with them.
> — Matthew 18:20

Book: New Testament / Matthew
Topics: Church, community, Jesus, Prayer

Interpretation:
In Matthew 18:20 we find a verse that tells us about the power of gathering together in the name of Jesus. In this passage, Jesus talks about the importance of coming together in community and how God's presence is revealed through the union of His followers.

The idea of ??gathering together in the name of Jesus has been an important theme of the Christian church since its inception. In the early days of Christianity, believers gathered in homes to worship and study the word of God. The early church was a committed and close-knit group of Christians who shared a faith and goals. This is the type of community that Jesus had in mind when he spoke of gathering together in His name.

In modern life, we continue to gather together in religious communities to worship God and grow in our relationship with God. When we gather together in the name of Jesus, we do more than just gather together. We acknowledge the presence of God in our lives and in our community.

The importance of gathering together in the name of Jesus is that it gives us the opportunity to share our experiences. It allows us to worship God together, study God's word, and share ideas and thoughts. Christian community offers support and help in times of need, as well as the guidance and support needed to deal with life's challenges.

Moreover, the presence of the Lord among two or more people gathered in His name shows us the value of personal connections within the community. Each of us plays an important role in the lives of others and in the life of the church as a whole. When we gather together, our lives are connected and enrich each other.

It is important to note that gathering in the name of Jesus does not have to be an exclusive activity of the church. We can find opportunities to gather in the name of Jesus in our homes, communities, and workplaces. Every time we gather with others in a spirit of love and unity, we are building a community of faith around the presence of the Lord.

> For just as each of us has one body with many members, and these members do not all have the same function, so in Christ we, though many, form one body, and each member belongs to all the others.
> — Romans 12:4-5

Book: New Testament / Romans
Topics: Church, body, community, dependence, Jesus

Interpretation:
The human body consists of many members, each with a specific purpose. The health and strength of the body depends on how well each member performs its task.

It is the same in the Body of Christ. It includes the unity (one body), diversity (many), and interrelation (one for another) of all members. Any gifts are not intended for self-gratification, but for the good of the body. No gift is sufficient in itself; nor is any unnecessary. It is this understanding that gives us due modesty (12:3).

The church is the body of Christ, a living proof of the existence of God, since it is the result of the ministry begun by Jesus. We are members of the body, and each member fulfills its role, so let us stop comparing ourselves with others in the church, and let us value the talent God has given us, which is unique and important for the rest of the body.

If you have not yet identified your talent, pray and ask God to show you how you can help fulfill your role in the Body of Christ.

> I urge you, brothers and sisters, to watch out for those who cause divisions and put obstacles in your way that are contrary to the teaching you have learned. Keep away from them.
> — Romans 16:17

Book: New Testament / Romans
Topics: Church, community, evil, Holiness

Interpretation:
In Romans 16:17, the Apostle Paul calls the believers in Rome to beware of those who cause divisions and hinder the doctrines they have learned. The significance of this call is not limited to the believers in first-century Rome, but applies to all Christians in the world at all times. Unity of faith is an important theme in the Bible, and this verse highlights its importance.

Why is unity of faith important?

Unity of faith is important because it strengthens the Christian community and ensures doctrinal stability. Christians must be united in their faith so that they can strengthen one another, build up the church, and be effective witnesses of Jesus Christ to the world.

When Christians are divided, the church loses its power and its witness is weakened. Furthermore, when some church members challenge established doctrine, it can cause confusion and distrust among other believers, leading to disunity and alienation from the church.
