> Dear friends, now we are children of God, and what we will be has not yet been made known. But we know that when Christ appears, we shall be like him, for we shall see him as he is. All who have this hope in him purify themselves, just as he is pure.
> — 1 John 3:2-3

Book: New Testament / 1 John
Topics: promises, children, family, heaven, purification

Interpretation:
The book of 1 John is a letter written by the apostle John to strengthen the faith and unity of believers. In this particular verse, John reminds us that even though we are children of God, we still do not know all that God has in store for us. However, the promise of being like Him when He appears gives us glorious hope.

A call to faith and patience

Throughout the Bible, we are reminded that God's plan goes beyond what our eyes can see and our ears can hear. In 1 John 3:2-3, we are called to be patient as we wait for God to reveal His will.

Sometimes it may seem like life just doesn't make sense, but if we remember that God has a perfect plan for us, we can be confident that if we continue to walk in faith, we will one day see His promises fulfilled.

The desire to be like Christ

This verse also reminds us of the promise of Christlikeness. As children of God, our destiny is to live with Him forever in eternity. This means that at some point we will be transformed and become a new creation, without the presence of sin in our lives. It is important to remember that this transformation is only possible through our love for and dependence on Jesus Christ.

Purification through Hope

So how does this hope in Christ purify us? The answer is found in the phrase "just as He is pure." Jesus is the perfect model of purity and holiness, and by placing our hope in Him, we are encouraged to seek that same purity in our lives. This involves a process of continual renewal and transformation in which we leave behind our old habits and grow closer to the image of Christ.

_____

Attention! This is one of the possible interpretations based on the comments of famous theologians, which may differ from each other. If the interpretation is taken from other languages, then there may be a distortion of meaning when translating the language. Matthew 7:7-8

> And the God of all grace, who called you to his eternal glory in Christ, after you have suffered a little while, will himself restore you and make you strong, firm and steadfast.
>
> — 1 Peter 5:10

Book: New Testament / 1 Peter
Topics: promises, Eternal life, grace, suffering

Interpretation:
1 Peter 5:10 is one of the most powerful Bible verses for those seeking hope and strength in times of adversity. Scripture reminds us that God is a God of grace and has called His children to eternal glory in Jesus Christ. At the heart of this verse is the promise that after a short period of suffering, God Himself will not only perfect us, but also establish us, grounding us in His love and purpose.

Understanding the verse

To fully understand 1 Peter 5:10, we need the larger context. Peter is writing to Christians facing persecution and trials for their faith, and he reminds them that adversity does not mean that God has abandoned them. Instead, Peter is telling them that God is at work in their lives, refining them and preparing them for eternal glory.

In his call to eternal glory in Jesus Christ, Peter shows us that our life here on earth is only a small part of our eternal existence. The promise of eternal glory is a source of hope and encouragement to those who struggle in this world.

_____

Attention! This is one of the possible interpretations based on the comments of famous theologians, which may differ from each other. If the interpretation is taken from other languages, then there may be a distortion of meaning when translating the language. Matthew 7:7-8

> The one who calls you is faithful, and he will do it.
> — 1 Thessalonians 5:24

Book: New Testament / 1 Thessalonians
Topics: promises, calling, faithfulness, reliability, Word of God

Interpretation:
1 Thessalonians 5:24 is a verse that talks about God's faithfulness. The apostle Paul wrote this letter to the church in Thessalonica to encourage them in their faith and remind them of some important truths about God. In this verse, Paul tells them that God is faithful and will keep his promises.

To better understand the meaning of 1 Thessalonians 5:24, it is important to look at the context in which it was written. In the previous verses, Paul encouraged the believers in Thessalonica to rejoice always, pray without ceasing, and give thanks in every situation. Then he tells them that God is faithful and will keep his promises.

In other words, Paul is saying that even though life may be difficult and the future uncertain, we can trust in God's faithfulness. He encouraged the believers in Thessalonica to hold fast to the truth that God will not abandon them and will fulfill His purpose in them.

_____
Attention! This is one of the possible interpretations based on the comments of famous theologians, which may differ from each other. If the interpretation is taken from other languages, then there may be a distortion of meaning when translating the language. Matthew 7:7-8

> For physical training is of some value, but godliness has value for all things, holding promise for both the present life and the life to come.
> — 1 Timothy 4:8

Book: New Testament / 1 Timothy
Topics: promises, body, health, life, obedience

Interpretation:
The first letter to Timothy, written by the apostle Paul, is dedicated to instructing and guiding Timothy as a Christian leader. In 1 Timothy 4:8, Paul discusses the importance of godliness over exercise in terms of eternal value.

Exercise is beneficial, but godliness is profitable for all things

In today's culture, exercise is important, and many people look to it as a means to keep fit and healthy. However, the apostle Paul tells us that while exercise is beneficial, it is not as valuable as godliness. The word godliness refers to devotion to God, obedience to His commands, and worship of His person. Godliness affects not only our life on earth, but also our eternal life.

The promise of the life now and the life to come

Godliness not only leads to eternal life in heaven, but it also benefits us here on earth. This life is an opportunity to develop our relationship with God and experience His love and guidance in our lives. Godliness helps us to define the purpose of our lives, which is important for effective living. Moreover, it can bring peace and emotional stability in an unstable world.

_____

Attention! This is one of the possible interpretations based on the comments of famous theologians, which may differ from each other. If the interpretation is taken from other languages, then there may be a distortion of meaning when translating the language. Matthew 7:7-8

> Therefore, since we have these promises, dear friends, let us purify ourselves from everything that contaminates body and spirit, perfecting holiness out of reverence for God.
>
> — 2 Corinthians 7:1

Book: New Testament / 2 Corinthians
Topics: promises, awe, Holiness, purification

Interpretation:
The Apostle Paul wrote these words to the church in Corinth, a city filled with immorality and corruption. In this verse 2 Corinthians 7:1 he reminds them of the promise they have as believers and calls them to live holy lives.

God's promises to believers

Paul tells us that we have "these promises." What does that mean? As believers, we have many promises from God in the Scriptures. Promises of salvation, forgiveness, eternal life, His abiding presence, and much more. All of these promises are our inheritance as children of God.

Cleansing from all defilements

Paul calls us to “let us purify ourselves from everything that contaminates body and spirit.” What does that mean? The “defilements” the Apostle speaks of can be interpreted as anything that separates us from God and His will. This could be sin, bad habits, bad attitudes, impure thoughts, and many other things. When Paul calls us to “purify ourselves,” he is talking about repentance and getting rid of everything that separates us from God. This is a call to purify both our behavior and our thoughts and emotions.

Perfecting holiness in the fear of God

Finally, Paul calls us to “perfecting holiness out of reverence for God.” Holiness is an ongoing process in our lives, and we must cultivate it every day. The fear of God is an attitude of humility, respect, and reverence toward Him. It is an awareness of who God is and our constant need for His grace and help.

_____

Attention! This is one of the possible interpretations based on the comments of famous theologians, which may differ from each other. If the interpretation is taken from other languages, then there may be a distortion of meaning when translating the language. Matthew 7:7-8

> Through these he has given us his very great and precious promises, so that through them you may participate in the divine nature, having escaped the corruption in the world caused by evil desires.
> — 2 Peter 1:4

Book: New Testament / 2 Peter
Topics: promises, desires, reward, world

Interpretation:
2 Peter 1:4 shows the greatness of the promises God has given us to make us partakers of His divine nature. This promise is an incalculable treasure and a great responsibility for those who seek to follow the teachings of Christ and be faithful to Him.

Precious and Great Promises

The Apostle Peter mentions the wonderful promises God has given us that are the key to becoming partakers of His divine nature. These promises include forgiveness of sins, eternal life, comfort in difficult times, inner peace, and the presence of God in our daily lives. Each of these gifts is invaluable and helps us to grow stronger in our Christian faith.

Fleeing from the Corruption of Lust

The world is full of corruption, temptations, and unbridled passions that can lead us astray. But in this verse, Peter calls us to flee from everything that corrupts our souls and distances us from the presence of God.

Divine Nature

Being partakers of the divine nature is a goal that seems unattainable, but Peter encourages us to strive for it. The divine nature is found in the essence of God, His love, His mercy, and His justice. But to achieve this, we must renew our minds, live holy lives, and strive to become more and more like Jesus. Only then can we manifest the divine nature in our lives and become agents of His Kingdom on earth.

_____

Attention! This is one of the possible interpretations based on the comments of famous theologians, which may differ from each other. If the interpretation is taken from other languages, then there may be a distortion of meaning when translating the language. Matthew 7:7-8

> The Lord is not slow in keeping his promise, as some understand slowness. Instead he is patient with you, not wanting anyone to perish, but everyone to come to repentance.
> — 2 Peter 3:9

Book: New Testament / 2 Peter
Topics: promises, conversion, patience, repentance, Salvation, end times

Interpretation:
2 Peter 3:9 is a reminder of divine patience and mercy, showing us that God loves and wants all people to repent and choose to follow His way.

We often become impatient when things don’t seem to be going the way we expect, but God has a perfect plan for each of us, and His timing is always right. This passage helps us reflect and understand that God has motives beyond our desires, and that only He knows when the right time is for His promises to be fulfilled.

Historical Context

The historical context of 2 Peter is important to understanding the meaning of this verse. In this book, Peter is writing to a church that was struggling with persecution and heresy. Persecution had gotten worse, and it seemed as if God had abandoned the church, but Peter reminds them that God is faithful and not absent.

At the time the letter was written, the people were eagerly awaiting the return of Jesus and were looking forward to His promise to return soon. Peter tells them that they are mistaken in their expectations, but that God has a plan for their return and that it is encouraging that God is giving them time to repent.

God is patient and merciful

This verse shows us the great patience and mercy of God, who wants all people to repent and find redemption. There is no one more interested in our salvation than God, because He created us and loves us deeply.

He is so merciful that He gives us time to repent, not because He is undecided about His purpose, but because He wants all people to be saved and find inner peace. It is important to be grateful for His patient love and ask for His forgiveness every day.

The Power of Repentance

Repentance is a fundamental part of our faith, as it allows us to draw closer to God and receive His grace. This verse reminds us that God does not want anyone to perish, but that everyone will repent and have the opportunity to be saved.

Repentance is a process requiring humility and willpower, yet within it we find immense strength to move forward. God gives us the opportunity to repent so that we can achieve complete happiness, but we must keep in mind that repentance is not always easy, it is not an easy task, it requires effort, humility and persistence.

_____

Attention! This is one of the possible interpretations based on the comments of famous theologians, which may differ from each other. If the interpretation is taken from other languages, then there may be a distortion of meaning when translating the language. Matthew 7:7-8

> Know therefore that the Lord your God is God; he is the faithful God, keeping his covenant of love to a thousand generations of those who love him and keep his commandments.

> — Deuteronomy 7:9

Book: Old Testament / Deuteronomy
Topics: promises, covenant, faithfulness, God, law, reliability

Interpretation:
The Book of Deuteronomy was written by Moses and recounts the Israelites' wanderings in the wilderness. In verse 7:9, Moses speaks to the Israelites of God's faithfulness and His covenant with them.

God's faithfulness

In this passage of Scripture, Moses speaks of God's faithfulness. Faithfulness means keeping promises or obligations to someone. God is faithful because He always fulfills His promises. He is a God who always keeps His promises and is unchangeable.

God's covenant

In this verse, Moses also speaks of God's covenant with the Israelites. This covenant was an agreement between God and His people, in which God promised them blessings for keeping His commandments. This covenant was made on Mount Sinai when God gave Moses the Ten Commandments.

God's mercy

Furthermore, Moses mentions that God shows mercy to those who love Him and keep His commandments. Mercy is compassion and forgiveness. God is merciful because He is able to forgive and even give a second chance to those who repent and seek Him.

_____

Attention! This is one of the possible interpretations based on the comments of famous theologians, which may differ from each other. If the interpretation is taken from other languages, then there may be a distortion of meaning when translating the language. Matthew 7:7-8

> When you make a vow to God, do not delay to fulfill it. He has no pleasure in fools; fulfill your vow.
> — Ecclesiastes 5:4

Book: Old Testament / Ecclesiastes

Topics: promises, obedience, reliability

Interpretation:
Ecclesiastes 5:4 speaks of the importance of keeping promises to God. If we make a promise to Him, we must fulfill it without delay. God does not favor those who fail to fulfill their promises and commitments.

Keeping promises

Keeping promises and commitments is an undervalued skill in our society. We often see people making promises without intending to keep them, or changing them to suit their needs. However, God expects something different from us. He calls us to be honest with ourselves and others and to keep our promises, even when they are difficult or unpleasant.

Faith is not only believing in God but also trusting Him enough to do our part. This means we must be willing to strive to fulfill our promises, despite the obstacles and difficulties that may arise along the way.

_____

Attention! This is one of the possible interpretations based on the comments of famous theologians, which may differ from each other. If the interpretation is taken from other languages, then there may be a distortion of meaning when translating the language. Matthew 7:7-8

> But Scripture has locked up everything under the control of sin, so that what was promised, being given through faith in Jesus Christ, might be given to those who believe.
> — Galatians 3:22

Book: New Testament / Galatians
Topics: promises, faith, sin, trust

Interpretation:
The Bible verse Galatians 3:22 reveals a truth about the nature of Scripture and its connection to our human experience in the world. The phrase “Scripture has locked up everything under the control of sin” suggests that sin is a central aspect of human existence and is a recurring theme in Scripture.

However, this statement does not simply describe human reality, but is a preparation for something greater: “so that what was promised, being given through faith in Jesus Christ, might be given to those who believe.”

Sin’s connection to promise

The fact that Scripture concludes everything with sin does not mean that God’s promise of salvation is an afterthought. In fact, it is precisely because sin is a universal problem that this promise is so necessary.

The promise God made to Abraham in the Old Testament and fulfilled in Jesus Christ is the divine solution to the problem of sin. It is through faith in Jesus Christ that believers receive the promise of salvation and can be set free from the bondage of sin.

Why did Scripture imprison the world in sin?

It may seem strange that Scripture “imprisons” the world in sin, as if it were intentional. However, there is logic to this statement. God’s Law, given to mankind through Scripture, points to the holiness and justice of God.

But instead of leading us to this ideal, the Law condemns us because of our own shortcomings. That is, the Law reveals to us the gravity of our sin and our inability to save ourselves. Thus, the Law is an important part of Scripture that contributes to our imprisonment in sin.

Faith in Jesus Christ as the key to freedom

While Scripture imprisons the world in sin, the promise of salvation is not beyond our reach. Rather than relying on our own works or the Law, the key to salvation is faith in Jesus Christ. By accepting Jesus as our Savior, we leave behind our failed attempts to keep the Law and find peace with God.

_____

Attention! This is one of the possible interpretations based on the comments of famous theologians, which may differ from each other. If the interpretation is taken from other languages, then there may be a distortion of meaning when translating the language. Matthew 7:7-8

> I establish my covenant with you: Never again will all life be destroyed by the waters of a flood; never again will there be a flood to destroy the earth.
> — Genesis 9:11

Book: Old Testament / Genesis
Topics: promises, covenant, safety

Interpretation:

In Genesis 9:11, God promises Noah that He will never again destroy the earth with a flood. Through this covenant, God demonstrates His love and mercy for humanity. This means that even if people sin and turn away from God, He will never abandon us or destroy us forever.

This covenant is also important because it establishes an agreement between God and humanity. It shows that God is a God of promises and is faithful to His words. This covenant demonstrates His love and devotion to humanity.

_____

Attention! This is one of the possible interpretations based on the comments of famous theologians, which may differ from each other. If the interpretation is taken from other languages, then there may be a distortion of meaning when translating the language. Matthew 7:7-8

> I have set my rainbow in the clouds, and it will be the sign of the covenant between me and the earth.
> — Genesis 9:13

Book: Old Testament / Genesis
Topics: promises, covenant

Interpretation:
Genesis 9:13 is part of the story of the Flood, in which God, seeing the wickedness on the earth, decided to destroy it with a great flood, saving only Noah and his family, as well as two of each kind of animal in the ark he had built. After the Flood, God made a covenant with Noah, promising never to destroy the earth with a flood again, and as a sign of this covenant, He placed His rainbow in the clouds.

The significance of the rainbow in the Bible

The rainbow is a well-known image, but in the Bible it has a special meaning. It symbolizes God's covenant with Noah, but also serves as a reminder that God is faithful to His promises and is a God of mercy. In the Old Testament, the rainbow is also mentioned in Ezekiel's vision (1:28) and in the book of Revelation (4:3), but in a symbolic sense, as a reference to the glory of God.

_____

Attention! This is one of the possible interpretations based on the comments of famous theologians, which may differ from each other. If the interpretation is taken from other languages, then there may be a distortion of meaning when translating the language. Matthew 7:7-8

> Let us hold unswervingly to the hope we profess, for he who promised is faithful.
>
> — Hebrews 10:23

Book: New Testament / Hebrews
Topics: promises, acknowledging, faithfulness, hope, reliability

Interpretation:
In this Bible verse, the writer of Hebrews encourages us to remain steadfast in our confession of hope. This phrase is important because it reminds us of the importance of maintaining our faith in God without doubt or wavering.

In this sense, the word "hope" refers to the trust we have in God and His promises. So when the writer refers to "hope we profess," he is referring to publicly affirming our faith in God and His power to fulfill His promises.

Standing firm

Maintaining steadfast faith can be difficult during difficult times when it seems like all is lost and there is no solution to our problems. But as the writer of this Bible verse says, we must remain steadfast in our trust in God.

One way to do this is to remember all the times God has kept His promises in our lives. It is also important to read the scriptures and connect with other Christians who can encourage us in our faith.

God's faithfulness

The writer of Hebrews also mentions that God is faithful to His promises. This means that we can be confident that God will fulfill everything He has promised in His Word.

In our daily lives, we must constantly remember this truth to remain steadfast in our faith. God will never leave us and will always be there for us, even in the most difficult times.

_____

Attention! This is one of the possible interpretations based on the comments of famous theologians, which may differ from each other. If the interpretation is taken from other languages, then there may be a distortion of meaning when translating the language. Matthew 7:7-8

> You need to persevere so that when you have done the will of God, you will receive what he has promised.
> — Hebrews 10:36

Book: New Testament / Hebrews
Topics: promises, obedience, patience, receiving

Interpretation:
One of the most important values ??in the Christian life is patience. The Bible repeatedly tells us about the need for patience and perseverance in our daily lives, as it is fundamental to the fulfillment of God's promise.

Hebrews 10:36 gives us a clear teaching. Here, the apostle Paul tells us that patience is necessary for us to achieve what God has prepared for us. But why is this so important?

The importance of patience

Patience is a virtue that allows us to remain calm and balanced during difficult times or times of waiting. It helps us trust God and His plans for our lives, even when we do not understand what is happening or do not see the end result.

In the Christian life, we must patiently wait for God's promises, because He has a specific time and way to fulfill them. It doesn't always happen the way we expect or when we want it to, but if we remain faithful and trust Him, we can receive the blessings and promises He has given us.

God's will

This verse also says to do God's will. What does that mean? Simply put, God's will is everything He wants for our lives. It includes our decisions, our thoughts, and our actions. When we do God's will, we walk in obedience and submission to Him.

To know God's will, we must seek His presence through prayer and Bible reading. He will speak to us and guide us in the path we should take. The closer we are to Him, the clearer His voice will be and the better decisions we will be able to make in our lives.

_____

Attention! This is one of the possible interpretations based on the comments of famous theologians, which may differ from each other. If the interpretation is taken from other languages, then there may be a distortion of meaning when translating the language. Matthew 7:7-8

> But in fact the ministry Jesus has received is as superior to theirs as the covenant of which he is mediator is superior to the old one, since the new covenant is established on better promises.
>
> — Hebrews 8:6

Book: New Testament / Hebrews
Topics: promises, covenant, Jesus, Mediator

Interpretation:
The Bible verse we just read is a statement about the role of Jesus Christ as the mediator of a better Covenant and a better ministry. The writer of Hebrews emphasizes the superiority of Jesus Christ's ministry over the ancient priests because His ministry is based on "better promises." This leads to a natural question: What are these "better promises"? What makes Jesus' Covenant superior to the Old Covenant?

Better promises in the New Covenant

In the Old Covenant, the covenant between God and His people was based on the Law of Moses. God's people had to keep a series of laws and rules in order to be in God's presence and receive His favor. However, the Law could not save anyone; it was only a shadow of the perfection that was to come in Jesus. At the same time, the Old Testament could not forgive all kinds of sins, but instead reminded the believer that he was still imperfect and in need of something more.

In contrast, the New Testament establishes a relationship based on the grace of God through faith in Jesus Christ. Jesus Himself, through His death and resurrection, completely fulfilled the Law for us and set us free from sin and death. The promises of the New Covenant are eternal life, complete forgiveness of sins, salvation, and a personal relationship with God.

The ministry of Jesus Christ as mediator

Jesus Christ is our mediator because it was He who made possible the union between God and man through His sacrifice on the cross. This means that in order to be in the presence of God, no human intermediaries such as priests or even the Law are needed. Instead, we can approach God directly through Jesus Christ, who reconciled us to God through His death and resurrection.

The ministry of Jesus Christ is superior to that of the ancient priests because they had to make sacrifices over and over again to atone for the sins of the people. On the other hand, Jesus Christ made the final and sufficient sacrifice, which means that we can be assured that our sins are completely forgiven. Furthermore, Jesus Christ is our High Priest who intercedes for us in heaven, which means that we will always have access to God's grace and forgiveness.

_____

Attention! This is one of the possible interpretations based on the comments of famous theologians, which may differ from each other. If the interpretation is taken from other languages, then there may be a distortion of meaning when translating the language. Matthew 7:7-8

> For this reason Christ is the mediator of a new covenant, that those who are called may receive the promised eternal inheritance—now that he has died as a ransom to set them free from the sins committed under the first covenant.
> — Hebrews 9:15

Book: New Testament / Hebrews
Topics: promises, covenant, law, Mediator, Savior

Interpretation:
The New Testament presents Christ as the mediator of the New Covenant between God and humanity. This is because Christ is the visible image of God who shows us the truth and eternal life. Furthermore, through His sacrifice on the cross, He made it possible for the sins of men to be forgiven, giving them a new opportunity to draw near to God and receive an eternal inheritance.

The death of Christ and the forgiveness of sins

Christ is the mediator and central figure of the New Covenant because He intervened in our death for the forgiveness of sins. He took upon Himself the punishment we deserved, freeing us from sin and death. In doing so, He opened the way for us to live forever with God. This is the promise that all who are called receive, regardless of their background or status.

The promise of an eternal inheritance

The New Covenant, established through the person of Christ, promises an eternal inheritance to those who believe in Him. This promise is a source of hope and comfort because it reminds us that no matter how difficult our current circumstances may be, there is something much better waiting for us. By accepting Christ as our mediator, we can be assured of eternal life without pain and suffering, in the presence of our Creator.

The importance of faith and trust in the promise

To receive the eternal inheritance promised in the New Covenant, we must have faith and trust in God’s promise. It is not enough to simply say that we believe. Our faith must also be demonstrated in our actions, in our daily decisions, and in our relationship with God. Through prayer, Bible reading, and meditating on the image of Christ, we can strengthen our faith and ensure that our confidence in the promise never wavers.

_____

Attention! This is one of the possible interpretations based on the comments of famous theologians, which may differ from each other. If the interpretation is taken from other languages, then there may be a distortion of meaning when translating the language. Matthew 7:7-8

> But those who hope in the Lord will renew their strength. They will soar on wings like eagles; they will run and not grow weary, they will walk and not be faint.
>
> — Isaiah 40:31

Book: Old Testament / Isaiah
Topics: promises, encouragement, hope, strength

Interpretation:
Isaiah 40:31 speaks of hope in the Lord and how it gives us renewed strength to move forward. This passage is very popular in the Christian community and is often used as a source of inspiration and motivation to overcome life's challenges.

The importance of hope in our lives

Hope is a powerful emotion that allows us to look to the future with optimism and confidence. Although it can be difficult at times to maintain this attitude, the Bible shows us that God is always present in our lives, and that if we trust in Him and believe in His love, He will always give us new strength and help us overcome any obstacle.

Renewal of strength

Isaiah 40:31 reminds us that those who trust in the Lord will be renewed. Renewal of physical and mental strength is necessary to withstand life's trials and not give up. This renewal of strength does not come naturally, but through faith in God and His love for us.

Wings like eagles

This Bible passage speaks to us not only of renewed strength but also of eagles spreading their wings. These birds are known for their strength and ability to fly at great heights. When we trust in God and His love, we are able to rise and soar above our worries and problems. However, it is important to remember that this ability comes not only from us but also through the power of God.

Walk without wearying

Finally, this verse also speaks to the need to walk without wearying. The path of life can be difficult and exhausting, and it is easy to become discouraged and stop. However, trusting in God gives us the strength to keep going and overcome any weariness and weariness we feel along the way. Trusting in His love and strength, we can walk with a firm step.

_____

Attention! This is one of the possible interpretations based on the comments of famous theologians, which may differ from each other. If the interpretation is taken from other languages, then there may be a distortion of meaning when translating the language. Matthew 7:7-8

> So do not fear, for I am with you; do not be dismayed, for I am your God. I will strengthen you and help you; I will uphold you with my righteous right hand.
> — Isaiah 41:10

Book: Old Testament / Isaiah
Topics: promises, equipment, fear, strength, worrying

Interpretation:
Isaiah 41:10 is one of the most comforting verses in the Bible for those who struggle with fear and anxiety. God’s promise to be with us at all times and to help us in our difficulties gives us the security and confidence we need to overcome any situation.

So do not fear, for I am with you

The first message of this verse is clear: we do not need to be afraid because God is with us. This does not mean that we will not have problems or difficulties in life, but rather that we can trust in God’s loving and protective presence in the midst of them. Knowing that we are not alone in difficult times gives us the strength and courage to keep going.

Do not be dismayed, for I am your God

The second message of this verse is that we should not lose heart because God is our God who strengthens us. When we feel exhausted or discouraged, we can be confident that God will give us the strength and energy we need to continue. He is our source of strength and encouragement in our journey.

I will strengthen you and help you

The third message of this verse is that God will always be there to help and support us. He will never leave us or forsake us alone. We can be confident that His love and grace will uphold us at all times and in all places.

I will uphold you with my righteous right hand

The final promise of God in this verse is that He will uphold us with His righteous right hand. This means that His power is on the side of those who seek His help and protection. He is ready to intervene on our behalf and help us to overcome any difficulty that may come our way.

_____

Attention! This is one of the possible interpretations based on the comments of famous theologians, which may differ from each other. If the interpretation is taken from other languages, then there may be a distortion of meaning when translating the language. Matthew 7:7-8

> When you pass through the waters, I will be with you; and when you pass through the rivers, they will not sweep over you. When you walk through the fire, you will not be burned; the flames will not set you ablaze.
> — Isaiah 43:2

Book: Old Testament / Isaiah
Topics: promises, encouragement, trust

Interpretation:
Isaiah 43:2 is part of the prophetic message that the prophet Isaiah gives to the people of Israel in the Old Testament. In this chapter, God promises to save His people and commits to redeem them from captivity in Babylon. God also assures them that He will always be there for them and will not allow anything bad to happen to them.

Passing through waters and rivers

This verse is full of metaphors that highlight the idea of ??trials and tribulations in life. The references to waters and rivers are representations of difficult circumstances that we face. In life, we may encounter moments of anguish in which we feel as if we are in the midst of turbulent waters and strong currents.

The protective presence of God

However, this verse also assures believers that God is with them at all times. The promise that God will be with us means that we have someone to turn to during difficult times. Moreover, the promise that God will protect us provides safety and serves as a reminder that we are not alone.

Walking through the fire

The mention of fire in the verse is another metaphor for adversity. In ancient times, fire was a terrible force that could destroy everything in its path. However, the promise that we will not be burned suggests that God protects His people even in the most difficult times.

_____

Attention! This is one of the possible interpretations based on the comments of famous theologians, which may differ from each other. If the interpretation is taken from other languages, then there may be a distortion of meaning when translating the language. Matthew 7:7-8

> For I know the plans I have for you, declares the Lord, plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future.
> — Jeremiah 29:11

Book: Old Testament / Jeremiah
Topics: promises, blessing, hope, planning

Interpretation:
The Book of Jeremiah is an Old Testament book that represents God's voice speaking to the people of Israel in times of crisis. In this verse, God speaks through the prophet Jeremiah to offer hope to the Israelites in Babylonian captivity. In this context, God tells them that, although they are in difficult circumstances, He cares for them and that their suffering will not last forever.

Intentions for good, not evil

The phrase "intentions for good, not evil" is very powerful because it reflects God's character. It means that God does not wish us harm, but desires our well-being. It's easy to fall into the trap of thinking that our current situation, whatever it may be, is the worst possible thing. But this verse reminds us that God has a plan for our lives that is good and peaceful.

Our expected end

This verse also says that God wants to give us the end we hope for. This doesn't mean we'll always get what we want or that our prayers will automatically be answered, but that God has a plan for our lives that aligns with His design for the world. We must believe that God has a purpose for our lives, even if we can't understand it now.

_____

Attention! This is one of the possible interpretations based on the comments of famous theologians, which may differ from each other. If the interpretation is taken from other languages, then there may be a distortion of meaning when translating the language. Matthew 7:7-8

> Jesus said to her, “I am the resurrection and the life. The one who believes in me will live, even though they die; and whoever lives by believing in me will never die. Do you believe this?”
> — John 11:25-26

Book: New Testament / John
Topics: promises, death, faith, Resurrection

Interpretation:
Jesus’ statement, “I am the resurrection and the life,” in John 11:25-26 is one of the most powerful statements of Jesus in the Bible and has profound meaning for all Christians. Jesus spoke these words to Martha, Lazarus’ sister, after Lazarus had died and been buried.

Martha expressed her sadness over Lazarus’ death and told Jesus that if he had been there, her brother would not have died. Jesus responded by saying, Jesus said to her, “I am the resurrection and the life. The one who believes in me will live, even though they die; and whoever lives by believing in me will never die. Do you believe this?” (John 11:25-26).

This statement by Jesus is powerful because he claims to be able to conquer death and offer eternal life to those who believe in him. He is not only speaking of raising Lazarus from the dead, but of the final resurrection and eternal life for all who believe in him.

Jesus doesn’t just say that he is the one who raises the dead. He claims to be the source of eternal life and the guarantee that all who believe in him will have life even after death. The life Jesus offers is not only life after death, but also an abundant and fulfilling life in this world. As Jesus said in John 10:10, “I have come that they may have life, and have it to the full.”

For Christians, Jesus’ words, “I am the resurrection and the life,” are a constant reminder that death is not the end, but the beginning of new life in Christ. It is an affirmation of Jesus’ victory over death and his power to offer us eternal life. It brings us comfort and hope in times of sorrow and encourages us to live our lives with purpose and meaning.

In summary, Jesus’ statement, “I am the resurrection and the life,” in John 11:25-26 is a powerful affirmation that Jesus is the source of eternal life and victory over death. This should bring us comfort and hope and motivate us to live with purpose and meaning, trusting in the power and grace of Jesus.

_____

Attention! This is one of the possible interpretations based on the comments of famous theologians, which may differ from each other. If the interpretation is taken from other languages, then there may be a distortion of meaning when translating the language. Matthew 7:7-8

> Now I am about to go the way of all the earth. You know with all your heart and soul that not one of all the good promises the Lord your God gave you has failed. Every promise has been fulfilled; not one has failed.
> — Joshua 23:14

Book: Old Testament / Joshua
Topics: promises, death, heart, reliability, soul

Interpretation:
Joshua 23:14 is a Bible verse that speaks of God's faithfulness in fulfilling all His promises and blessings for His people. This passage is part of Joshua's farewell address to the tribes of Israel shortly before his death. In this speech, Joshua calls on the people to continue to love and serve God, remembering all the blessings He has bestowed upon them throughout their history.

God's faithfulness in our lives

This verse reminds us of God's faithfulness in our lives. We humans often become discouraged when we face difficulties or when it seems like things aren't going as we expected. However, Joshua reminds us that God always fulfills His promises and that none of His blessings will go unfulfilled. We can remember this as we face the trials and tribulations of our daily lives.

The need to acknowledge God's blessings

In this verse, Joshua also calls the people to acknowledge all the blessings God has bestowed upon us. Acknowledging these blessings is a way to thank Him and remember His faithfulness. This also helps us to have a positive outlook on life and be grateful for what we have. We must remember that everything we have comes from God, and we should be grateful for it.

_____

Attention! This is one of the possible interpretations based on the comments of famous theologians, which may differ from each other. If the interpretation is taken from other languages, then there may be a distortion of meaning when translating the language. Matthew 7:7-8

> Ask and it will be given to you; seek and you will find; knock and the door will be opened to you.
> — Matthew 7:7

Book: New Testament / Matthew
Topics: promises, receiving, reward, seeking

Interpretation:
Prayer is a powerful and effective tool that allows us to connect with God and ask Him for help or guidance in our lives. Matthew 7:7 reminds us to ask and seek in prayer so that we can receive what we need and find what we are looking for. It also invites us to knock and God will open the door for us.

Ask and it will be given to you

This first call to prayer calls us to ask God for what we need. As humans, we have needs and desires that sometimes we cannot meet on our own. Prayer is a way to ask for help and trust in the power and goodness of God to give us what we need. However, we must be careful not to ask for things that are selfish or harmful to ourselves or others.

Seek and you will find

Prayer seeking is a call to seek God's will in our lives. Often we have questions or confusion about circumstances or decisions we need to make. Prayer is a way of seeking wisdom and divine direction in our lives. By searching in prayer, we can find the answer we need.

Knock and the door will be opened to you

When we knock on God’s door in prayer, He always answers us and opens the door for us. But sometimes we need to be patient and wait for the answer. It is also important that we be willing to receive the answer God gives us, even if it is not what we expected or wanted. We must be open to God's will and trust that His answer is for our highest good.

_____

Attention! This is one of the possible interpretations based on the comments of famous theologians, which may differ from each other. If the interpretation is taken from other languages, then there may be a distortion of meaning when translating the language. Matthew 7:7-8

> God is not human, that he should lie, not a human being, that he should change his mind. Does he speak and then not act? Does he promise and not fulfill?
>
> — Numbers 23:19

Book: Old Testament / Numbers
Topics: promises, God, lying, reliability

Interpretation:
This Bible verse is a clear affirmation of God's sovereignty and faithfulness. In this sense, it is important to understand that God is not a man, subject to the weaknesses and limitations of the human condition, who could lie or regret his decisions. Instead, God is an absolute and unchangeable person, whose words and promises are reliable and true.

This truth has been confirmed in various Bible passages, such as Titus 1:2: "in the hope of eternal life, which God, who does not lie, promised before the beginning of time." Or in 2 Timothy 2:13, which says, "if we are faithless, he remains faithful, for he cannot disown himself."

_____

Attention! This is one of the possible interpretations based on the comments of famous theologians, which may differ from each other. If the interpretation is taken from other languages, then there may be a distortion of meaning when translating the language. Matthew 7:7-8

> Here I am! I stand at the door and knock. If anyone hears my voice and opens the door, I will come in and eat with that person, and they with me.
>
> — Revelation 3:20

Book: New Testament / Revelation

Topics: promises, food, listening, obedience

Interpretation:
Revelation 3:20 is a verse that is familiar to most Christians. This verse describes the call of Jesus Christ into the lives of those who listen to Him and respond to Him. The imagery described here is of a closed door that can only be opened from the inside. Christ cannot enter our lives until we open the door to invite Him in.

A closed door and an opening from the Inside

A closed door is a metaphor used in the Bible to describe the separation between God and humanity. The Bible teaches us that humanity has been separated from God since the beginning of time when Adam and Eve sinned. Since then, people have been separated from God and can only return to Him through faith and opening the door in their hearts.

Jesus Christ is the One who knocks at the door. He calls humanity to open their hearts and allow Him to share a meal with Him. It is important to note that this is a personal invitation. Each person must individually respond to this invitation.

The meaning of the dinner

The dinner that Jesus Christ describes in this verse is an act of fellowship and friendship. Jesus Christ's invitation to share a meal with Him is an expression of His deep love and desire to have a personal relationship with each of us.

In the culture of Jesus Christ's time, sharing a meal was considered a sign of friendship and fellowship. Jesus Christ's Supper points to the close relationship between Him and us. It is an important aspect of the Christian faith, based on a personal relationship with God.

_____

Attention! This is one of the possible interpretations based on the comments of famous theologians, which may differ from each other. If the interpretation is taken from other languages, then there may be a distortion of meaning when translating the language. Matthew 7:7-8

> The one who is victorious will, like them, be dressed in white. I will never blot out the name of that person from the book of life, but will acknowledge that name before my Father and his angels.
> — Revelation 3:5

Book: New Testament / Revelation

Topics: promises, acknowledging, Angels, heaven, life, overcoming

Interpretation:
The Book of Revelation is known as one of the most mystical and terrifying books in the New Testament of the Bible. But if we delve deeper into it, we can find a message of hope and love for believers. One such message is found in Revelation 3:5, where Jesus promises not to blot out the names of the overcomers from the book of life.

The white garments of the overcomer

The beginning of Revelation 3:5 refers to the white garment that the "overcomer" will receive in eternal life. This garment symbolizes the purity and holiness that a Christian has achieved by persevering in his faith and overcoming trials and temptations during his life on earth.

While this garment refers to life in heaven, we can also apply it to our daily lives on earth. We must remember that as Christians, we are called to live a life of holiness and purity. It is easy to give in to temptation, but with the help of the Holy Spirit and devotion to God, we can overcome and receive the white garment of the overcomer.

Book of Life

The Book of Life is mentioned several times in the Bible, and in this verse it refers to the heavenly book that contains the names of those who are saved and who will have access to God's eternal kingdom in heaven. To have a name erased from the Book of Life means that that person has lost their eternal salvation.

Assurance of eternal salvation is one of the most important themes in the life of a Christian. Often, the fear of losing salvation causes doubts and fears in the life of a believer. But the promise in this verse assures us that if we persevere and overcome in our life on earth, our name will remain in the Book of Life and we will have access to heaven.

Confession to the Father and His angels

In this verse, Jesus promises to confess us before His Heavenly Father and His angels if we endure in our faith and remain pure and holy. Confessing a believer's name to the Father is a sign of the believer's special relationship with God.

The truth is that our relationship with God is strengthened as we struggle with temptation in our daily lives. And while the promise of a name conference may seem small, it is a powerful reminder that God knows us personally and values ??our faithfulness in our daily lives.

_____

Attention! This is one of the possible interpretations based on the comments of famous theologians, which may differ from each other. If the interpretation is taken from other languages, then there may be a distortion of meaning when translating the language. Matthew 7:7-8